

PENN BREWERY OKTOBERFEST

Don your finest lederhosen and head over to the North Side for one of Pittsburgh's longest running beer events. Lots of German food, music, and of course beer all under the big Fest tents. This party lasts two weekends and admission is free. If you hate lines as much as we do, check out their VIP packages.

photo courtesy Penn Brewery

BEER BARGE

We imagine that after realizing the Inclines were too small, Commonwealth Press decided to host their beer fest/punk show/sightseeing tour on Pittsburgh's second most iconic form of transportation. The Gateway Clipper has limited deck space for festival goers, making this one of the hardest tickets to get. This one-of-a-kind event literally sells out in a matter of minutes.

WEIRD SCIENCE NIGHT AT HIDDEN HARBOR

Once a week Hidden Harbor goes from tiki bar to laboratory for "science-forward reinterpretations of classic tropical drinks." We're talking Daiquiri's blended with dry ice, decomposing zombie cubes, Campari cotton candy, and painkiller-flavored Dippin' Dots.

photo courtesy of @HiddenHarborpgh on Instagram

PUMPKINFEST

If you haven't drank beer—from an actual pumpkin—under the bridge in Homestead, you don't know what you're missing. You don't know what you're missing. Once you've had all the gourd you can handle, it's a short walk to Blue Dust, Dorothy 6, and Voodoo.

photo courtesy of Blue Dust

STEEL CITY BIG POUR

Pittsburgh's landmark beer event is turning 11 this year. Two sessions of great beer, local food, live music and art benefitting Construction Junction, a nonprofit used and surplus building material retailer. The Big Pour is a popular event and tickets usually sell out fast, unless it's the same day as a Pitt vs. PSU game. The next day, head to Fat Head's for their annual, hangover-vanquishing, post-Pour brunch.

HOW TO SCORE

1-3 YOU SHOULD GET OUT MORE

4-6 YOU MUST LIVE IN THE SUBURBS

7-9 WELL DONE, CHEERS TO YOU

10-12 ::HIGH-FIVE::

13-14 IMPRESSIVE, YOU DESERVE SOME KIND OF TROPHY

ALL 15 CONGRATULATIONS, YOU ARE THE ULTIMATE CHAMPION OF PITTSBURGH LIBATIONS!

SEA DOG BREWING CO.

CRISPIN

The Lost Abbey

JACOB LEINENKUGEL BREWING COMPANY

FINCH'S BEER CO.
CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

123 36th Street, Pittsburgh 15201

(412) 621-4420

wilsonmcginley.com

@burghbrewnews